

Well, the snowstorm totally blind-sided almost everyone! I listened to the weather reports and got an uneasy feeling on Friday. So, I proceeded to pick all the peppers, tomatoes, herbs, flowers etc in a real rush. I left in the chard, kale, lettuce since they don't really mind the cold.

I just put up this quick video clip of the garden this past summer. Enjoy. I love growing things and the garden requires a lot of work but the rewards are great.
