

Saturday Morning in June in the Garden

Finally the weather seems to be steady here temperature wise. The rainfall here is still breaking records and causing flooding in some areas. This weather is not normal and the rainfall is affecting the the plants because tomatoes and peppers really need the direct sunlight. It's not happening and everything is really going slow.

<http://mycitygarden.net/>