

Here is a link to an article on Alternet that appeared this morning, (March 30). It sums up the reasons for having your own plot if you have space or investing in a community garden. The handwriting is on the wall as we get involved in yet another violent conflict that involves a fossil fuel producing country. Agriculture runs on oil so as the price goes up and up so will the price of your food. Here is the Garden As If Your Life Depended On It article link .
