

Garden Scenes

Monday, 16 June 2008 20:19 - Last Updated Friday, 20 June 2008 16:27

Here in Jersey City an informal group of gardeners has formed in the Hilltop area. This past Saturday they got together and visited each other's secret gardens which ran the gamut from almost half an acre backyard veggie and flower garden to vestpocket front flower gardens to a grotto type. Information on cultivation and plants was exchanged. Plans are being made for future visits and a possible community garden. Below are shots from one of the gardens. Stay tuned for an album of photos of some Jersey City Gardens. Coming soon...

