

The new garden will not only be used for growing organic food but as a teaching vehicle for children who Michelle Obama hopes will convey what they learn to their families. You can see a diagram of the garden (which will be visible to passers-by on E street) The article reported the total cost of the garden was $200. The whole Obama family will help in the upkeep of the garden. Here is the link:

Garden